

ALL IN: Campaign to Address Healthcare Worker Well-Being

We are honored to pledge our commitment to the well-being and resiliency of the country's healthcare workforce and join the ALL IN campaign, led by #FirstRespondersFirst and the Dr. Lorna Breen Heroes' Foundation, along with our fellow collaborators at the American Medical Association (AMA), the American Nurses Foundation, and the American Hospital Association (AHA).

The goal of ALL IN is to convene like-minded organizations to provide a roadmap for institutions to invest in and cultivate environments where their workforce feels valued and supported.

Compassion Conversations

Schwartz Center CEO Matt Herndon kicked off the inaugural event of our new series, Compassion Conversations. Our first program featured a conversation with Rushika Fernandopulle, MD, MPP, CEO and co-founder of Iora Health. Rushika discussed Iora Health's care model and how its values, including compassion, guide his leadership, the organization's culture, his team's approach to challenges, including COVID-19, and how he expects healthcare to change post-pandemic.

Stress First Aid Program

Stress First Aid offers a set of supportive actions that promote self-care and peer support, enabling teams to identify and mitigate the negative impacts of stress at work before they impair staff health and well-being.

As a Schwartz Center member, you have access to two training options for the program:

- Stress First Aid Basics is a 60-minute online training program that introduces the basics of the program for healthcare workers. This program can be accessed by all staff at your organization.
- The Train-the-Trainer program is an eight-hour training program that provides the tools and resources needed to plan to implement SFA at your organization.

If you are interested in learning more about the SFA program, please join us for an information session on June 8 at 1:00 p.m. EDT.

"The SFA was well-designed; the program management team highly communicative. I appreciated the reminders with the links in the emails for ease of access. GREAT PROGRAM!" – SFA program participant
